

Oriana House Community Corrections and Treatment Center
1829 East 55th Street, Cleveland, OH 44103

The Community Corrections and Treatment Center (CCTC) in Cleveland serves Cuyahoga County and surrounding communities. It is operated by Oriana House, Inc.

Because 95% of offenders return to their community, comprehensive rehabilitation and reentry services benefit them and all members of the community. Research shows that individuals are significantly less likely to reoffend when they are placed into programs that offer rehabilitation, teach new skills, and focus on successful community living.

CCTC programming is evidence-based and designed to help offenders learn to make positive behavioral changes that contribute to safer communities. Services include:

- Services
- intensive case management
 - substance abuse treatment
 - employment readiness training and placement
 - mental health services
 - cognitive therapy
 - 12-step programs
 - parenting skills enhancements

Structured activities assist clients in developing a sense of responsibility and self-sufficiency; facilitate their ability to pay rent, restitution, and taxes; and provide opportunities to establish critical ties to family and community.

Providing highly structured, comprehensive cognitive-based programs designed to help non-violent offenders learn the necessary skills to become successful members of the community.

Program Descriptions

CCTC clients are provided with a range of evidence-based programming including case management, cognitive therapies, mental health services, substance abuse treatment, employment and housing assistance, 12-step programs, parenting skills classes, and family support services.

Federal Referrals: CCTC is a Comprehensive Sanction Center for the Federal Bureau of Prisons. CCTC serves federal pre-release clients, federal clients sanctioned by a federal judge, or federal clients sanctioned by their United States probation officer. CCTC also provides pre-trial treatment services to federal defendants awaiting trial.

Halfway House: This rehabilitative program is up to six months in length and includes services to assist the offender in successfully returning to the community.

Parole/Post Release Control: Offenders placed on parole must meet strict program requirements as they transition back into the community.

Transitional Control: This is a highly structured, residential program for appropriate offenders who are serving their last one to six months of a prison sentence.

Electronic Monitoring: Offenders referred to electronic monitoring wear a device that monitors 24/7 to confirm compliance with sentencing restrictions.

Cuyahoga County Jail Reduction Program: Offenders who are in jail may be eligible for early release if they complete a treatment program under the supervision of the Cuyahoga County Adult Probation Department.

Services and Programming

Access to Recovery: In 2008 Oriana House was selected by the Ohio Department of Alcohol and Drug Addiction Services and the Alcohol, Drug Addiction, and Mental Health Services Board of Cuyahoga County to coordinate Access to Recovery (ATR) services in Cuyahoga County. ATR is a three year grant program funded by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). ATR provides vouchers for purchase of substance abuse clinical treatment and recovery support services. The program goals are to expand capacity, support client choice, and increase the array of faith based and community based providers for clinical treatment and recovery support services. In 2008, there were 932 individuals who enrolled in Access to Recovery in Cuyahoga County.

"This program saved my life. Now instead of standing on the street corner buying drugs, I am able to get my kids off the school bus and hold down a job."

CCTC Client who successfully completed the program in November 2008.

Motivation for Success: Motivation for Success was developed in 2008 to assist clients in addressing issues such as self-disclosure, role playing, communication tools and skills, addressing barriers of change, developing healthy relationships, time management, and organizational skills.

Cleveland Transition Center: This transitional program provides assistance for housing, employment, education, cognitive skills, and chemical dependency treatment to those returning home from prison. Services are provided in a residential setting with the goal of reducing recidivism and homelessness. The Cleveland Transition Center opened in 2007.

What Works: What Works is evidence based programming that teaches clients to change the way they think, so they can and will change their behavior and become more productive, prosocial members of the community. What Works provides services that have been proven to have a positive impact on clients' behavior and lead to a reduction in recidivism.

Cognitive Skills: Cognitive skills class addresses the major thinking errors that lead to criminal behavior and ways to correct these errors. Moderate to high need clients participate in Thinking for a Change, a cognitive-based program that assists clients in changing the way they think, resulting in changes to their behavior. Low to moderate need clients participate in Cognitive Self Awareness to target the prosocial changes needed to improve their lives.

Employment: The CCTC employment program is evidence-based with a cognitive behavioral component that includes learning skills through role playing. Classroom sessions focus on employment readiness skills such as resume writing, interviewing techniques, and providing clients with communication tools to converse with potential employers regarding past criminal history.

Faith Based: CCTC has partnerships with several faith based service providers and churches. Non-denominational services are available on a volunteer basis for all clients. Donations from parishioners allow for an on-site clothes closet and library.

Fathers Matter: This course is for male clients with children and focuses on parenthood, responsibilities of fatherhood, and how to become and stay involved in their children's lives.

Accreditation

CCTC is accredited by the American Correctional Association (ACA). ACA standards are the national benchmark for the effective operation of correctional systems throughout the United States. CCTC was reaccredited in 2007 following a two-day, on-site review of 252 standards.

Licensing & Certification

CCTC is licensed by the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction and has a dual certification in Intensive Outpatient (IOP) Treatment and Residential Treatment from the Ohio Department of Alcohol and Drug Addiction Services (ODADAS).

Community Outreach

- CCTC staff continue to actively participate with the Greater Cleveland Community Reentry Strategic Initiative. This commitment has improved the interface of CCTC services with the needs of formerly incarcerated individuals who are reentering the community.
- Oriana House CEO James Lawrence and Oriana House Vice President of Community Correctional Programs in Cuyahoga County Phillip Nunes remain active on the Cuyahoga County Justice Reform Initiative that facilitates collaborative decision-making, planning, and implementation among all justice system agencies and partners.
- CCTC sponsored neighborhood clean-up projects, a holiday food drive, and local children's registration to attend Camp Fitch, a YMCA summer camp, all benefitting the Hough community. CCTC clients assisted with the Wilson United Methodist Church Food Pantry as part of their community service hours.
- CCTC staff continue to participate in Citizen Circles to create community partnerships that promote positive interaction and accountability for offenders upon release.
- Phillip Nunes served on the Board of Directors of the International Community Corrections Association and served as past president of the Ohio Justice Alliance for Community Corrections.

Client Accountability

Accountability is paramount to community corrections programming. Clients are tested for drug and alcohol use upon intake and randomly tested throughout the program. Restitution, child support payments, and court costs are paid by clients as ordered by the court. CCTC clients performed 2,400 hours of community service in 2008.
